1. A radar set was observed on the roof of a house near the Staaken (W53/Z 65) airfield on 5 March 1950. The set was rotating from NW to SW. A cross-coil antenna, previously reported, was also on the roof. (See annexes 1 and 2) 25X1X
2. When an attempt was made to examine the set at close range it was found to be no longer there. It is therefore assumed to be a disappearing set.
3. There was no flying at the airfield between 11 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. on 7 March 1950, except for the landing of a DC-3 transport at 11:55 a.m. Four aircraft of the same type were standing in front of a closed hangar (see Annex 3).
4. A small building with a T-shaped antenna rod of about 2-meters on the roof was in the northeast corner of the airfield.

Comment :

a. The set (presumably a radar set) was reported in October 1949 * to be on the roof of the same building. This has not been confirmed.

25X1X

b. a building with a T-shaped antenna on the roof to be located on the northeastern edge of the airfield (see Annex 3). This probably is the same house mentioned in para 1 and 2. 25X1X

c. According to previous reports, an air transport escadrille is stationed at the airfield.
